What is Coreum?

Coreum (COREUM) is a 3rd generation, layer 1 blockchain with smart contracts built to serve as a core infrastructure of future decentralized applications. It is also the first-ever enterprise-grade blockchain (EGB) catering to enterprise needs.

With the ability to process up to 7,000 transactions per second with a federated group of 32 validators, Coreum prioritizes cutting-edge speed. Furthermore, it can scale without limits thanks to Tendermint Consensus Engine and Cosmos SDK. In addition to heightened scalability, the new layer one will bring immense multi-chain interoperability through the deployment of bridge functionality and collateralized wrapping.

The low-latency, proof-of-stake blockchain supports the expansion of modular, fast, secure, and interoperable blockchain-based applications, ultimately cultivating the mass adoption of decentralized technology among enterprise-grade entities.

EGB is a new standard introduced by Coreum for blockchain networks specifically designed to provide the essential tools and infrastructure for enterprises of any size to build and run decentralized applications. It is a standard that determines the blockchain network's optimization for enterprises and regulation compliance. For example, an EGB must provide a collection of accurate records that is auditable and irreversible. Transaction data must also not expose sensitive information about all involved parties. Of course, the list goes on.

COREUM is the ecosystem's governance and utility token. Holders can use the token as payment for the gas fee on transactions. Furthermore, token holders play a part in shaping the future of the ecosystem.
