What is Cream Finance (CREAM)?

Cream Finance (CREAM) is a DeFi protocol that provides financial products and services like staking and yield farming to the ecosystem while also neutrally lending to investors, other DeFi protocols, and financial institutions. The Crypto Runs Everything Around Me (CREAM) open-source blockchain network is compatible with the Ethereum network, the Binance Smart Chain (BSC), Fantom, and Polygon, and it is permissionless, non-custodial, and privacy-centric.

The Ethereum network underpins Cream Finance, letting CREAM implement the Ethereum Virtual Machine (EVM) on its protocol via smart contracts and letting users implement their own communities and autonomous organisations on the protocol to form a large network of connected people working towards a common goal. With Cream Finance's flash loans, borrowers can gain access to uncollateralized cash with the assurance that they will be able to repay the principal plus interest in a single transaction block. This type of short-term loan facilitates interest rate and collateral swaps, as well as arbitrage and a voteable liquidation.

While the audit report on the official CREAM website does not yet verify Cream's security technique for their smart contract, a multi-signature wallet does guarantee the safety of the users' money. The tokens are locked for four years before being unlocked at the end of the staking term. Long tail assets, as well as less popular crypto tokens with low trading volume and market cap, are supported by CREAM, which helps to improve the exchange's liquidity. Cream Finance comes in two flavours: V1, a lending platform for low liquidity assets, and V2, an Iron bank that caters to retail investors as well as the DeFi protocols.

Cream Finance's money market is compatible with a diverse set of tokens, including those backed by interest, such as stablecoins, LP tokens, and DeFi tokens. In addition, users can quickly borrow any asset listed on the Cream Finance marketplace and utilise the collateral to secure a loan for yet another asset.

The climb will be slow, like that of other cryptocurrencies, but there won't be any major declines. It's ambitious to aim for an average price of $24.00, but with the planned partnerships and innovations in the pipeline, it's not impossible. The lowest possible price for CREAM is $20.57.

Cream Finance (CREAM) Price Prediction 2024

The forecast for the price of Cream CREAM in 2024 is somewhat optimistic. We expect CREAM to rise in value to over $42.86 due to the likely introduction of various new partnerships and projects. Due to the uncertainty in the market, CREAM will move between $34.29 and $37.72 on average.
