About Binance

Binance is the largest cryptocurrency exchange in the world by daily trading volume of cryptocurrencies, founded in 2017. With a mission of being the infrastructure provider for crypto in tomorrow's world, Binance Cryptocurrency Exchange has emerged as one of the leading digital currency trading platforms in the world with its rich trading varieties, low transaction fees, high security and innovative services.

Kraken vs. Binance: Overview

	Kraken	Binance
Supported Cryptocurrencies	200+	350+, but only about 150 are available in the U.S.
Safety	Extremely high security with security practices like two-factor authentication and holding 95% of its cryptocurrency in cold storage	Although security in Binance is impressive, it once suffered a major hack in 2019 and it once had regulatory trouble in several countries
Fees	Kraken's rates for entry-level traders can be high, such as fees for debit card purchase up to 7.1%, although fees on its more advanced Kraken Pro service are among relative low level	Fees are quite low, especially compared with main rivals like Kraken, Coinbase, etc.
User Friendliness	Kraken's website and exchange are easier to navigate than Binance, while it is still less intuitive for beginners	The trading platforms may be not user-friendly despite a broad range of features and trading options, even experienced traders may feel overwhelmed by all the options available
Service Scope	Offer service to more than 10 million clients in more than 190 countries	Offer hundreds of cryptocurrencies for trade globally, but its platform for U.S. users is more limited as it is only available in 46 states
Customer Service	Offer 24/7 live phone, chat and email support to make timely response	Provide 7/24 customer support in 40 languages

Kraken vs. Binance: Supported Cryptocurrencies

Kraken offers more than 240 coins, including three stablecoins: USD Coin (USDC), DAI (DAI), and Tether (USDT). However, some coins are not available to US investors.

350 listed coins and tokens, including major ones like Bitcoin, Ethereum, and Ripple, are available on Binance platform, which makes it an attractive platform for both beginner and experienced traders looking to diversify their portfolios.

After comparison, both Kraken and Binance offer large selection of tradable. It is not difficult to find that Binance outperforms Kraken in terms of tradable coins. Besides, while Kraken supports a wide range of cryptocurrencies, it has a limited selection of altcoins compared to other exchanges like Binance

Kraken vs. Binance: Safety

Although both platforms enjoy good reputation in terms of safety, Kraken stands out for its security measures and aims to improve security for the industry as a whole by contrast. Kraken holds 95% of deposits in air-gapped, geographically distributed cold storage. Since founded in 2013, Kraken hasn't been hacked. While Binance once suffered a major hack in 2019 and it once had regulatory trouble in several countries.

Kraken vs. Binance: Fees

Kraken and Binance both adopt the maker-taker fee structure, charging much lower fees than other popular platforms such as Coinbase. At first glance, you may notice that Kraken fees are higher than Binance, with maker-taker fees ranging from 0% to 0.26% versus Binance's 0% to 0.10%.

If you are a new trader with a low trading volume, a maker fee of 0.16% or a taker fee of 0.26% would be charged by Kraken, while a maker fee or taker fee of 0.10% may be charged by Binance. However, Binance offers a 25% fee discount if you use Binance Coin (BNB) to pay your fees, and holding more BNB also reduces your fees.

For deposit and withdrawal fees, Binance does not charge any deposit fees but has varying withdrawal fees depending on the cryptocurrency. Deposits at Kraken are free, but withdrawals incur fixed fees ranging from $5 to $60, depending on the cryptocurrency.

In terms of margin trades, Binance charges a flat interest rate of 0.02% per day for borrowed funds, while Kraken's margin fees range from 0.01% to 0.02% per day, depending on the currency pair and leverage ratio.

In conclusion, there may be no clear winner between Binance and Kraken, as it ultimately depends on your trading habits and goals. But Kraken's fee schedule is easy to read and understand, whereas Binance is more complex and varies by users' VIP level.

Kraken vs. Binance: User Friendliness

Although Kraken and Binance focus on users with at least some knowledge of crypto and investing, both Kraken's and Binance's platform can be overwhelming for beginners due to their complex interface and broad range of features and trading options. In conclusion, if you're a newcomer for crypto trading, the charting options and advanced trading features on both platforms can make you feel overwhelmed.

Kraken vs. Binance: Service Scope

Kraken offers service to more than 10 million clients in more than 190 countries. While it should be noted that Kraken is not available to all U.S. residents, as those living in Washington and New York can not use Kraken.

Binance provides hundreds of cryptocurrencies for trade globally, but its platform for U.S. users, Binance.us, is more limited as it is only available in 46 states.

Kraken vs. Binance: Customer Service

With industry leading satisfaction rates and response times, as well as support in multiple different languages, Kraken is dedicated to offer timely customer support via 24/7 live chat, email.

Binance offers three basic options for customer support: submitting a ticket, asking basic questions via chat, and reaching out via X (formerly Twitter).

Final Verdict: Which One Should You Pick?

Now that we've broken down all the metrics of Kraken vs. Binance, which one should you pick? While when making a choice between Kraken and Binance, it is largely depend on your trading goals and investment preference.

If you look for large selection of tradable coins and enjoyable customer service, both platform can meet your demand. In terms of security, Kraken offers more transparency, prioritizes security. As for fees and service scope, Binance performs better as a global crypto exchange. However, if you are a novice trader, both platforms may be a little confusing and overwhelming for you.

BTCC(Most Recommended)

After comparison, it is not difficult to find that both Kraken and Binance have their own pros and cons. We are more inclined to introduce BTCC, one of the longest-running exchanges in the world, for crypto trading as it performs better than Kraken and Binance in certain aspects.

As one of the longest-running exchange in the world, BTCC is committed to making crypto trading reliable and accessible to everyone. With a mission of providing a trading platform that is fair and reliable in every sense, BTCC strives to uplift the industry's standard for quality trading. At present, BTCC offers service in more than 100 countries and regions with more than 6 million registered users.

The reasons why we introduce BTCC for you summarize as below:

Industry-leading security

BTCC attaches great importance on security. Since founded in 2011, BTCC has never been hacked or been a victim of any other kind of successful malicious attack, which fully illustrates its security capabilities. Through measures like segregation of assets, 1:1 storage of users' assets, money laundering prevention and identity authentication and no collateralising tokens for loans, BTCC enjoys good reputation in asset security.

High Liquidity & Volume

BTCC is ranked top 10 by trading volume on both CoinMarketCap and CoinGecko, the world's two largest crypto information platforms. BTCC prides itself on providing crypto futures trading services to users worldwide with market-leading liquidity, offering perpetual futures on over 300 cryptocurrencies, including BTC, ETH, DOGE, LTC, SOL, XRP, SHIB, etc.
